The integrated Workplace - “Action Center”

The screenshot displays the IBM Workplace interface. At the top is a navigation bar with links for IBM Connections, Home, Mail, Calendar, People, Communities, and Apps. Below this is a header bar with a search bar and a row of user avatars. The main content area is a news feed with several posts. The first post is by George Bandini, featuring a gallery of images of a new product line. The second post is by Heathers Reeds, titled 'Value Marketing'. The third post is by Caitlin Garfield, titled 'New Expense Request'. The fourth post is by Vijay Nehru, titled 'Workshop Logistics'. The fifth post is by Amadou Alain, titled 'Workshop Logistics'. The sixth post is by Vijay Nehru, titled 'Stoked about our wearable technology. I'm really looking forward to seeing everything in person. #uberimpressive'. On the right side of the interface is a 'My Action Center' sidebar, which is highlighted with a red box. This sidebar contains sections for 'Due today' (with counts for Past Due, Needs Action, and Waiting For), 'Important updates' (with counts for High priority emails, Responses, @mentions, and Calendar Updates), and a 'Favorites' section. A blue line points from the text 'Notifications, my tasks and items owed to me' to the 'My Action Center' sidebar. Another blue line points from the text 'News are grouped by content – the most important on top' to the news feed.

Toscana – Team Collaboration Made Easy

Teams and projects I'm working with

Persistent team conversation streams

People I'm working with

The sidebar shows a user profile at the top. Below it are two sections: 'TEAMS' and 'DIRECT MESSAGES'. The 'TEAMS' section lists 'ZetaWear Launch' (1h), 'Project Teal' (1h), and 'Toscana Design' (24h). The 'DIRECT MESSAGES' section lists contacts: Carla Welch, Gary Soto, Caitlin Garfield, Jessica P, and Albert Chavez. There are 'See all...' links for both sections. A blue line points from the text 'Teams and projects I'm working with' to the 'TEAMS' section. Another blue line points from the text 'People I'm working with' to the 'DIRECT MESSAGES' section.

The main chat interface shows a conversation titled 'ZetaWear Launch'. It displays a photo of a person climbing a snowy mountain, labeled 'covershot1.jpg'. Below the photo, a message from Sam Patterson (9:24 AM) says 'I like this one. It's a great active shot'. Another message from Sarah Gibbons (Just now) says 'So much better. Thanks Chris'. Below this is another photo of the same mountain climb, labeled 'ZetaWear.pptz v2'. At the bottom, there is a text input field with a plus icon and the placeholder text 'Type a message'. A blue line points from the text 'Files shared in the team conversation steam' to the photo labeled 'ZetaWear.pptz v2'. To the right, a separate window shows a direct message conversation between Gary Soto and Ron, with a blue line pointing from the text 'Direct 1:1 messages' to it.

Adding notes to the conversation

Launch Feedback

For all these reasons then, and others perhaps too analytic to be verbally developed here, Ahab plainly saw that he must still in a degree continue to the natural, nominal purpose of the Pequod's voyage; observe all usages; and not only that, but force himself to evince all his well known interest in the general pursuit of his profession. Be as it may, his voice was often heard hailing the three mast-heads and admonishing them to keep a look-out, and not omit reporting even a porpoise.

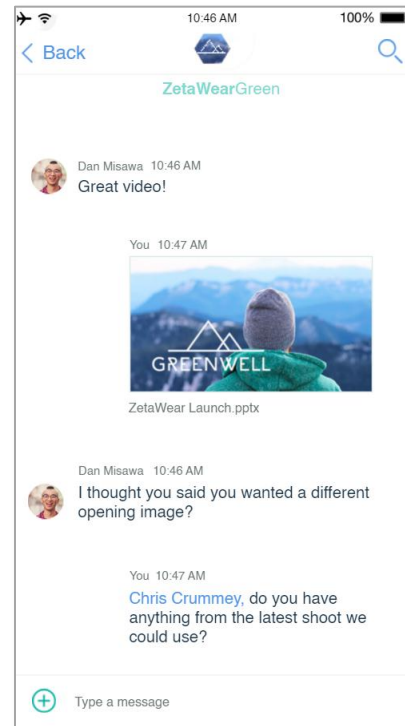

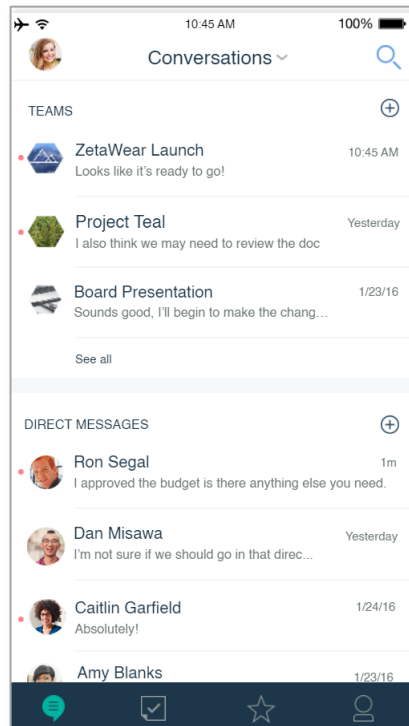

Things to accomplish before next week's leadership review.

- Create a plan for observation.
- Understand the navigational pros & cons of each route.
- Compile a list of the staff that should be included
- Find the white whale.
